Message:

Fair maps tell the story of communities of interest and where people of color live. Gerrymandering is a long story whose time has come to be revealed for what it is. The census data clearly demonstrates that the growth in Texas does not come from across our southern borders. Texans demand a fair and inclusive voting map that appropriately gives representation to all voters.

One example that comes to mind is attempting to split/fracture Texas State University. Using the numbers for enrollment are misleading. Tell the truth; show the data that does not confuse the district lines of demarcation.
