As a representative of the people, it is important any changes in voting districts are not used as a political maneuver to deny people of color their rights to fair representation. Any scheme that results in fewer seats and less representation in the Texas Senate is injustice and I view as a denial of my rights as a citizen to be represented.