Message:

I live in Senate District 13, and the matter of redistricting is a major concern to me. At present, District 13 is the home to several educational institutions, the Tier-1 University of Houston, and Houston Community College. It also is home to the world renowned Texas Medical Center, and Downtown Houston which is the hub for many corporations and International businesses. These entities engage in valuable community partnerships that has enhanced the economic, educational development and cultural diversity for the residents in District 13. Changes in the redistricting of Senate District 13 would have an impact on future developmental opportunities if partnerships were diminished because of redistricting. As a former educator, I understand it's imperative for us to work as a community to create and sustain pathways to success for our future generations.

Respectfully,

Paula F. Johnson
Retired Texas Educator
