Texas is a culturally, ethnically, and racially diverse state. The proposed redistricting maps are anything but. These maps serve to dilute non-white voices and provide disproportionate power to white voices.