Message:

My mailing address is Austin, but I live in Hays County. My children attend Dripping Springs ISD. Our community has been going "blue" over the last few election cycles. Cutting our Texas House Rep out of her own district, our district, and dividing Hays County is plainly political and racial gerrymandering. For fair and equitable representation, district lines should be drawn by non-political redistricting committees. In the proposed maps, there are blatant examples of packing and cracking districts in and around every major city in Texas. Be better humans.
