Message:

The two issues that I feel most passionately about and that call me to action, are Climate Change and Gerrymandering. If we don't slow down the first, the second won't really matter. However, my comments today are about gerrymandering and how it is unfair to voters. I know both political parties have been guilty of engaging in gerrymandering, but that's just makes it all the worse. Districts need to be drawn by an impartial collection of individuals and their methods need to be totally transparent. Fairness and "the will of the majority", need to be respected. I would be glad to serve on a citizens' task force to accomplish a better system
