Message:

I join all those expressing shock and confusion about the redistricting plan and process. Why are you holding regional hearings if you've already committed to the same map? It sure looks like a waste of time--and makes a sham of a supposedly fair process. I'm strongly in favor of transparency and fairness in everything related to redistricting. Many people, myself included, are understandably confused by what seems to be a clearly partisan process and result. Even though it seems increasingly futile, I continue to try to hold elected officials to honorable action that actually benefits their constituents. I urge you to create logical, rational, meaningful districts to treat all citizens equally, rather than to benefit a politician or political party.
