As a Texas resident all my life I have felt unrepresented and unseen in this Texas administration we are taught in Texas gov about redistricting and how awful and how cheap this tactic is to win a states voters , simply put this is wrong. What you are doing is changing the rules of the game in the middle of the game and if I am not mistaken that is called cheating and you will be label as such. You can not win the people of Texas over by good politics and good personality so you simply strong arm and bully your own people to get your way ,to close out my comment I will say this and only this if you choose to go through with this you will be replaced and kicked out of office you forgot we put you in power we can take you out of it we are the many and you are the few
