Message:

I'm a 75 year old native Texan. I never thought I'd see the day when a Texas governor and Republican Congress took their orders willingly from the Federal government, to the detriment of the state needs, no less. I once voted for Republicans. Republicans have been in control in Texas for 30 years. Today's Republican's have deliberately stripped Texans of basic freedoms (book bans!, targeting physicians, healthcare providers, and citizens with prison if they comply with their professional and/or moral oath instead of to State Government mandates, implementing government control over medical decisions that once were between a woman and her physician, prioritized guns over children's lives (gun deaths are greatest killer of children now), treated our law abiding, hard working, caring migrant neighbors who enrich and positively define our state culture with callous inhumane treatment and disregard. Your cruel, corrupt, authoritarian actions would be shameful anywhere; for you to define the spirit of Texas is beyond shameful to who Texans are.

You'll do what you like. I take comfort knowing that cheaters and "cruelty, which springs from weakness/insecurity" [per the Roman, Seneca] don't win in the long run.

That's my public statement as regards your attempt to control who constituents can vote for rather than confidently championing the people's right to choose as is done in free and strong democracies.
