Message:

Good afternoon, I am writing today to ask you to not redraw congressional lines for different districts. Texas is already a very red state, there is no need to add additional Republican dominant districts. Please allow the voters of Texas to decide who they want to lead, without any interference from those who wish to bully you. And when you do allow the voters to speak their minds, through these forums or public testimony or by voting, please listen to them. Thank you for your time and service.
