To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed redistricting plans in Texas. Redistricting should reflect fair representation and equal voting power, yet these plans prioritize political advantage over the voices of Texas residents.

Every Texan deserves the opportunity to have each of our voices represented in our government, and our communities should not be divided on a way that dilutes our representation. Manipulating district lines for political gain undermines public trust and erodes the foundation of representative government government.

I urge you to reject any redistricting plan that diminishes fairness and transparency. We, your constituents, deserve better. Texas voters deserve districts drawn with integrity, guided by population data and community continuity, not political strategy.

Thank you for considering my concerns,
