Message:

am writing to strongly oppose the unprecedented and unlawful attempt by Texas Republicans to redraw congressional districts in the middle of a decade. This is a blatant abuse of power designed to let politicians choose their voters instead of voters choosing their representatives.

Redistricting is meant to occur once every ten years following the census, not whenever a political party finds it convenient to manipulate election outcomes. This mid-decade redistricting scheme is a shameless power grab that undermines the core principles of representative democracy.

Communities across Texas, especially minority and marginalized populations, have already been silenced and split apart through gerrymandering. Now, with this new attempt to redraw lines mid-cycle, they are trying to rig the system even further, ignoring the will of the voters. This is not governance. It is political self-preservation at the expense of democracy.

I urge Congress to condemn and prevent this abuse of redistricting power. Our electoral process must remain fair, transparent, and accountable to the people, not manipulated by those in office to protect their own interests.

Texans deserve to choose their leaders, not the other way around.
