Message:

As a lifelong proud Texan, I am embarrassed and frustrated with the political charades that my home state is playing into. The Republican Party claims to be the party of small government and moral high ground, yet that very same party is willing to gerrymander the districts in Texas for partisan political gain, which is blatantly illegal and frankly immoral. In 2026, the will of the people needs to be heard regardless of the partisan outcome, and that will needs to be undistorted by underhanded partisan gerrymandering. Texas is a state that many different vibrant types of people live in. Those people's voices need to be heard, undiluted by political games played by the political party in power that is afraid to lose that power. If we live in a democracy, where true and accurate representation of the people is important and matters, the Texas Senate will do the right thing and decline the pressure from the White House to rob Texans of their voices. Please do the right thing and vote to NOT redistrict Texas.
