Message:

I'm a resident of San Angelo and I work in healthcare, specifically women's health. I'm writing to strongly oppose any redistricting efforts that result in gerrymandering or suppress the voices of everyday Texans.

I help serve women across rural communities, many of whom already struggle to access basic care, education, and representation. When political lines are drawn to serve power instead of people, it directly harms the patients and families I care for. Fair representation isn't a political talking point, it's a lifeline.

I urge the committee to reject any map or policy that silences communities, especially those already underserved. Our votes should matter equally, whether we live in a big city or a small town like mine. Democracy only works when every voice is counted, not carved out.

Please do the right thing. Choose transparency, equity, and justice for all Texans.
