Message:

I am writing to express my serious concern about the recent discussions to redraw district lines again, even though redistricting was already completed in 2020 based on the most recent census. This raises red flags, especially given the typical 10-year redistricting cycle. It appears to be a politically motivated effort that risks undermining the integrity of our democratic process.

Gerrymandering erodes public trust and silences voters by allowing politicians to choose their voters rather than voters choosing their leaders. Fair maps are foundational to a functioning democracy. Manipulating district lines for political advantage is unacceptable and threatens the voice and power of everyday citizens like myself.

In this time of increasing political instability that borders on authoritarianism, it is more important than ever to protect democratic norms, not dismantle them.

I urge you to oppose any attempt to redraw maps outside of the normal census-based process, and to support independent redistricting efforts that ensure transparency, fairness, and equal representation for all.

Please stand up for democracy.
