Regarding: Congressional

Message:

I am writing to strongly oppose House Bill 4, which proposes redrawing Texas's congressional maps in a manner that is blatantly gerrymandered and fundamentally undemocratic.

HB 4 does not serve the people of Texas—it serves the interests of those in power who are attempting to entrench their control by manipulating district lines for partisan gain. This undermines the principle of fair representation, which is a cornerstone of our democracy.

The proposed maps dilute the political voices of communities of color, despite the fact that population growth in Texas has been overwhelmingly driven by Latino, Black, and Asian communities. HB 4 ignores this reality and instead carves up neighborhoods and cities in ways that fracture communities and minimize their collective power.

This kind of gerrymandering not only violates the Voting Rights Act but also erodes public trust in our elections. Voters should choose their representatives—not the other way around.

I urge lawmakers to reject HB 4 and to commit to a transparent, nonpartisan redistricting process that reflects the true makeup of our state. Texans deserve fair maps, equal representation, and a democracy that works for all of us.
