Message:

I firmly oppose any redistricting efforts in Texas aiming to diminish the voices of Democratic voters. Gerrymandering of any kind seeks to undermine the democratic process and disenfranchise voters. Manipulating boundary lines so representatives choose their voters instead of the voters getting to fairly choose their representatives is wrong and the idea that the previously drawn districts unfairly benefit Democrats is quite frankly laughable considering the Republican party was in power in 2021 as well. If Republicans are worried about losing seats in this state, they should try running better quality candidates with a better policy platform not cheating their way to power.
