Dear Senators:

Please do not move forward with mid-decade redistricting. Our state is already highly gerrymandered. I live in Dallas, but earlier redistricting attached my area to highly Republican areas in like Keller, Colleyville, and Southlake. Voters in my area who might choose a Democrat already do not have a voice. I am asking you not to make the situation worse for others by undertaking the unprecedented mid-decade redistricting that can ensure the Donald Trump does not have to be accountable for his policies. Please stand for people of Texas.

Many people have noted that your focus is on this partisan redistricting effort instead of helping the people impacted by the recent flooding. In your hearing yesterday, you defended this by saying that another committee is working on that issue. However, you have still prioritized ineffectively for the good of the people. You put redistricting forward to the whole House before the flooding relief and plans for better flood warning systems in the future. Why is that? The people who lost loved ones and property were from all over the state, and they (and all of us) deserve a timely response.

Finally, I believe you did not have a racist intent with this redistricting effort, but the effect is still racist since it severely disenfranchises people of color. Please rethink your plans and represent ALL Texans.

Thank you,
Linda Stromberg
