Message:

I disagree with the governor's attempt to redistrict Texas. We live a representative government that is by the people, for the people and of the people. This effort is intended to undermine those principles and the backbone of our country to contribute freely and openly to our society. When my kids asked me what I wanted them to be when they grow, I didn't say the somewhat obligatory, "I want you to be happy." I said, "I want you to be a good citizen, a contributory and person who embraces Christian principles." Those principles are fundamentally a call for being fair -- doing what is right and just by all. There is nothing fair or just by this.
