To Whom It May Concern,

My name is Maribel Villa, and I am a resident of Ferris, Texas. I'm writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed redistricting bill currently under consideration. I ask that this statement be included in the official public record.

As a constituent, I see this redistricting plan for what it is: a calculated attempt to strip power away from minority communities like mine. This is not just about lines on a map—it's about silencing the voices of working-class families, immigrants, and people of color who have fought hard for representation.

We are exhausted. We show up, we vote, we participate—and yet, every time we gain ground, the lines move. This bill sends a clear message: that our voices don't matter. But we do matter. Our communities are growing, raising families, starting businesses, contributing to Texas in every way—and we will not be quietly erased.

This is a different generation. We see what's happening, and we will not stay silent. I urge lawmakers to do what is right—not what is politically convenient. Reject this bill. Protect fair representation. Let our voices be heard.

Sincerely,
Maribel Villa
