Message:

As a native Texan, I am appalled and outraged by the decision to hold an emergency congressional meeting to force through redistricting. This is not only a cowardly move — it is a callous betrayal of the democratic values that Texans are supposed to stand for.

I was raised in this state to be a proud Texas man — taught to speak up, to stand for what's right, and to treat others with fairness and respect. What's happening here is the exact opposite of that. Ramming through partisan maps in a rushed and secretive process is not leadership — it's legislative cowardice.

This redistricting scheme is a sham. It seeks to silence voters, especially communities of color, and undermine the very foundation of representative government. It's shameful, it's dishonest, and it's unworthy of the state I love.

If you choose to proceed with this disgraceful process, know that history will remember your names — not as public servants, but as architects of a broken democracy.

Texans deserve better. I demand you stop this redistricting effort immediately.
