Hello,

My name is Natalene Lopez and I just turned 18 this year. I wasn't of age in time to be able to vote for the presidential or local elections. This was disappointing because more and more I realized that I was well informed on the candidates and their proposals, compared to the people who were able to vote. I ended up being the one who explained to them on what they were choosing between.

I am of age now and look forward to making my voice heard. However this Redistricting will become an obstacle for me to be able to do so. I've waited 18 years to be able to vote and speak up on what I believe, I believe our government can be good and wants to help the people.

The people and government have a duty of working side by side in order to allow change to happen. We speak up on what we need and the government listens and acts on it. When the people feel supported we choose to support our government in the process. The relationship between the people and the government doesn't need to be a broken one. If this redistricting happens it will result into that, there will be division and opposition.

I'm 18 and I look forward to voting this year and the years to come, please don't take that away from me.
