Message:

Shame on any person who votes in favor of this redistricting scheme. You were not sent to Austin to do the bidding of the president. You work for and represent the people of TEXAS! Seems you need someone to remind you of that. Please explain how this tactic is in any way a supposed to help us deal with issues you were elected to address. I'm curious to hear how the Republican Party justifies such a blatantly desperate attempt to shield a 34 time convicted felon from the consequences of his unpopular legislation. Midterms are a way for us citizens to communicate whether we agree with the direction the current administration is taking us. You would rather bow the knee to a petulant child of a president than to allow Texans the opportunity to have their voices heard. I know any effort to appeal to the senses of someone who aligns themselves with Trump is futile so I don't expect anything I say will make a difference but if by some chance you got this far and still intend to vote to proceed with a plan to redistrict then by all means and with all due disrespect... you can go fuck yourselves!
