Message:

I am a 3rd generation Texan and was born and raised in Fort Worth. I strongly oppose any redistricting in and around my city, as well as anywhere in Texas that may favor any party. Every Texan regardless of where they live, deserves to have their vote count. It is the one job of our representatives to serve us. It is our right as citizens of this republic to elect officials who reflect our ideals, share our morals, and represent our ideologies. If our representatives cannot align themselves with the needs and desires of the citizens they claim to serve they should move aside so those better suited to a life of public service can step in. Redrawing district lines making it so the public cannot simply vote out those not serving them is unethical. We the people give them the power, not the other way around. Do your job and if you can't, get out the way so someone better suited to civil service can.
