Message:

Dear Members of the Redistricting Committee,

I strongly oppose the proposed redistricting plans in Texas due to serious concerns about fairness, representation, and democratic integrity.

The maps appear to be drawn to manipulate election outcomes rather than reflect voter intent. This undermines democracy by allowing politicians to choose their voters, and it dilutes the voting power of communities of color through tactics like “packing” and “cracking.”

The redistricting also fragments communities of interest, weakening their ability to elect representatives who understand their needs. Splitting neighborhoods across districts reduces accountability and can limit access to essential services and resources.

Additionally, the process has lacked transparency and meaningful public input. I urge the adoption of an independent redistricting commission and nonpartisan criteria to ensure fairness. There are also concerns that the maps may violate the Voting Rights Act and Equal Protection Clause.

I respectfully urge you to reconsider these maps and prioritize a fair, transparent, and representative process.

Sincerely,
Sara Wingfield
