Message:

You people are horrid creatures, hellbent on throwing this entire state and its people under the bus just so you can make an extra dollar. History will not remember you well. I vehemently disagree with your choices to change the congressional districts, as it is intentionally meant to keep yourselves in office, rather than to reflect the interests of the people of Texas. You know that the people of this state abhor you, aside from people who literally do not know any better, because you have gone to great lengths to ensure they will never know any better. I am ashamed that my home is run by monsters. You should be ashamed at how much you let your greed make every last decision for you. What a joke.
