Senator Adam Hinojosa Applauds Passage of SB2 Out of Education Committee

###

Austin, TX - on January 28th 2025, Senator Adam Hinojosa, a proud member of the Senate Education Committee, played an instrumental role in the passage of Senate Bill 2, also known as the Texas Education Freedom Act, out of committee. The bill, a significant step forward in empowering parents and enhancing school choice, reflects Senator Hinojosa's commitment to ensuring every child in Texas has access to a high-quality education.

"It should always be the goal of education to ensure our students are getting the best education possible," said Senator Hinojosa. "Giving parents the final say in where their children go to school means that parents are in control of their child's future. This is a fundamental step toward ensuring that all Texas families have the tools they need to choose the best educational environment for their children."

Senator Hinojosa expressed his gratitude to Lt. Governor Dan Patrick for his leadership and for appointing him to the Education Committee, where he has been able to work closely on this critical legislation.

SB2 is a cornerstone of the Texas Legislature's efforts to advance school choice and give parents the opportunity to direct their child's educational path. By serving 100,000 students in the first year, Texas will have the single largest school choice program in the nation. Senator Hinojosa

"I am proud to assist in this effort and will continue to advocate for measures that put students first," Senator Hinojosa added. "I look forward to the final votes on SB2 and working with my colleagues to make educational choice a reality for families across Texas"
