"We are facing an urgent situation with COVID-19, but I am confident that our strong, resilient community will meet the challenge together."

Dear Friend:

We are facing an urgent situation with COVID-19, but I am confident that our strong, resilient community will meet the challenge together.

Many cities and counties in SD 29 and across the state have issued orders restricting all but essential personal errands and business to slow the spread of COVID-19.

This is an effort to "flatten the curve," or to slow the rate of infection, so that our health care system is not overwhelmed.

Elected officials, health authorities, and members of our community are working at all levels to ensure that we protect public health and respond to the financial needs of workers and businesses. It will be difficult, but we will be able to rebuild our local, state, and national economy.

Enclosed you will find information and links to local and state resources. This includes information on COVID-19 and your health, financial support for small businesses and workers, City and County orders prohibiting non-essential social and business interaction, housing and food support, volunteer opportunities, and even educational and fun things to do with your children.

As always, please contact my office directly at (915) 351-3500 or (512) 436-0129 if you need assistance.

Sincerely,

Senator José Rodríguez

Should you or someone you know be threatened with an eviction, whether residential or business, contact COVIDcompliance@elpasotexas.gov or the El Paso Police Department's non-emergency line at (915) 832-4400.

You may also contact Texas Rio Grande Legal Aid, Inc. through their legal intake system at 1-888-988-9996.

"Self-help evictions are not allowed in Texas. This means landlords have to allow a legal process to remove their tenants. Evictions begin with a notice, followed by a lawsuit in Justice Court, a hearing and an appeal to county court, if necessary, and finally, a writ of possession if the tenant has not moved out. The writs involve the constable and sheriff physically removing people and their belongings from the property. On March 19, 2020, the Texas Supreme Court paused all eviction proceedings until April 19, 2020 and writs until April 26, 2020, with the exception of cases involving a threat of harm or criminal activity. We hope this brings some peace of mind to tenants, but are aware that this does not waive their obligation to pay the rent- it only delays how quickly they can be removed from the home. This underscores the importance of emergency funds for tenants and their landlords." -Veronica Carbajal, Attorney, TRLA, Inc.

El Paso County provides assistance for renters who qualify. The General Assistance Division provides resources through community and social service programs. Call (915) 775-2700 to apply over the phone or click here to apply online.
